In addition, network and tap into the thinking of experts and industry movers and shakers as they come to share their perspectives on topics relevant to specific sectors throughout your MBA journey with Taylor's Business School.

INDUSTRY-DRIVEN CURRICULUM

What you learn from our faculty members will be instantly applicable in real-world situations. The MBA is taught by both business faculty members and industry partners, providing a balance between theory and practice based on the latest standards, practices and requirements of today's global business community. The final year project must be an industry-based project.

GLOBAL ROTATION

Benefit from global outlook, connections and foster international links as this MBA brings together students, faculty and organisations from around the world. Students train to navigate change, and use it to create new opportunities by participating in exchange programmes with reputable business schools (from 43 international universities) in the following countries – Australia, Austria, Belgium, Finland, France, Germany, Korea, Netherlands, Sweden, United Kingdom among others. There are further opportunities for cultural interchange and international networking through exchange semesters / modules or industry visits.

REPUTATION AND EXPERIENCE

Established in 1993, Taylor's Business School is one of the Malaysia's largest and most reputable private business schools, with a solid track record spanning 20 years in business education. Backed by our sound track record of academic excellence, our mission is to develop leaders who make a positive impact in the world.

SELF-DIRECTED LEARNING

The MBA steps away from conventional paper-based, case study approach and maximises the opportunity to discover practical business solutions using the tools and techniques developed both in and outside the classroom. We connect the learning process to real business through an actions-based approach that gives students the tools and experience to lead change and innovation. We are cognisant of your pressing work schedules and that time is a commodity for working adults. On this score, the e-learning platform enables you to access lecture notes and learning resources with ease and flexibility. Features include e-tutoring, e-submission, e-assessment and e-forum. The ReWIND lecture capture system records lectures that are made available to you digitally.

REDEFINING CAREER BOUNDARIES

The Taylor's MBA is a route for experienced managers or entrepreneurs wishing to continue working whilst striving towards higher levels of management. Corporate representatives make regular visits to campus, many of them alumni who can offer advice and connections to get you to that next step in your professional life. Students begin the transformation of their career and career prospects multiply exponentially.

PROGRAMME SYNOPSIS

CORE MODULES

ASIAN ECONOMIC ENVIRONMENT

This module is designed to provide students with a basic overview of the contemporary economic development process and current economic environment of China, Japan, Cambodia, Malaysia, South Korea, Thailand, and Vietnam. Particular emphasis will be placed on understanding the diversity of the region and the role that economics, as well as politics and culture, play in the development process.

DELIVERING VALUE TO CUSTOMERS

This module is intended to enable students to understand and critically evaluate how organisations deliver value to their customers. Taking a cross-disciplinary approach, the module uses appropriate marketing and operations theories to support students in analysing the delivery of customer value in different organisational contexts.

FINANCING THE CORPORATION

This module emphasises finance as one of the key functions in business. The financial manager must understand and be able to apply basic economic principles affecting investment and financing decisions. This module examines important issues in corporate finance from the perspective of financial managers who are responsible for making significant investment and financing decisions.

MANAGING DECISIONS

This module gives students knowledge of accounting concepts that will enable them to use financial managers and accountants as sources of expert advice, so that they can brief these and understand their recommendations and reasoning.

MANAGING PEOPLE FOR PERFORMANCE

This module provides students with a comprehensive understanding on how organisations with motivated, talented employees that offer outstanding services are more likely to pull ahead of the competition. The module emphasises this key competitive advantage, showing students that success in today's globalised business world can be found, not in technology and products, but in an organisation's people.

STRATEGY AND INNOVATION

This module focuses on an organisation's long term vision and the strategies required to attain and sustain a competitive advantage. A primary element of the module is the formulation and implementation of effective business and corporate level strategies. Using research and theory application, students will gain understanding of innovation and creativity in a variety of contexts and form perspectives that include the individual, the organisation and society at large.

ELECTIVES MODULES

ASIAN BUSINESS GOVERNANCE

This module enables students to understand the challenges of managing an organisation in a South and South East Asian operational environment (China, India, and Japan have been selected as key countries) at a strategic level in contemporary complex business environments.

DOING BUSINESS IN ASIA

This module aims to help students understand the challenges of managing at a strategic level in an East Asian operational environment (China, India and Japan have been selected as key countries).

PROJECT MANAGEMENT AND CONSULTANCY

This module seeks to equip students with the capacity to efficiently and effectively manage all disciplines of project, program and portfolio management as well as the supporting environment while utilising out-sourced consultancies. Consultants are hired when clients need advice on actions to take, when they are uncertain, or when they lack sufficient time for proper reflection. The consultants' role is to solve management's problems, improve performance, implement changes or seize new opportunities. However, even when consultants are called in to help, it is far from certain that clients will follow the advice, make the right decisions or carry out the measures necessary to implement change.

CONCENTRATION MODULES

DERIVATIVES INVESTMENT

This module aims to provide a basic understanding of derivatives and introduce the analytics of derivative valuation. It also will provide practical and simple investment and corporate financial management strategies using derivatives in a manner which will allow students to apply these concepts and skills.

FAMILY BUSINESS ENTREPRENEURSHIP

This module provides an introduction to family business entrepreneurship with a focus on the identification, evaluation, and exploitation of opportunities. It examines the processes and behaviours involved with an emphasis on entrepreneurship as means of adding value and achieving competitive advantage in a variety of settings, from new venture creation, to the development of an entrepreneurial mind-set in established firms.

FINANCIAL PLANNING

Financial Planning course introduces students to the basic skills needed to analyse and manage their own finances. This module requires students to apply various analytical techniques and skills to a range of financial issues which apply to individuals and households, such as financial decision making for individuals, the basic concepts related to financial calculations; evaluation of financial performance, planning and control of individual or household finances; key areas of personal finance and preparing a personal financial plan. Its main focus is to enable candidates to develop a clear understanding of the practical applications of personal financial planning, factors affecting the development of financial planning industry and profession and the increasing demand for financial planning services. These skills are considered important for graduates of the Master in Finance programme.

FIXED INCOME INSTRUMENTS AND MARKETS

This module underlines the role of bond markets in financing a firm. In addition, as fund managers and individual investors are required to keep a portion of their investments in fixed income securities for diversification purposes, they too must have a thorough understanding of fixed income instruments and markets.

GOVERNANCE AND SUSTAINABILITY IN ASIAN FAMILY BUSINESS

This module aims to equip students with the awareness and understanding of the challenges in managing, governing and sustaining family businesses in a South and Southeast Asian operational environment (China, India, and Japan have been selected as key countries). Key concepts concerning operational environment at a strategic level in contemporary complex family business environments are analysed and discussed.

INTERNATIONAL FINANCE

This module aims to equip students to understand international finance and financial markets (in particular the growing financial markets in Asia); to analyse risks that exist in international finance including foreign exchange, foreign trade and investment risks and to select and use appropriate techniques to manage such risks.

INVESTMENT AND PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

This module provides a good foundation in the theoretical concepts as well as practical skills/techniques relating to the construction and also management of investment portfolios (to manage their own personal assets and/or the assets of others). Emphasis is therefore placed on the analytical aspects of Investment and Portfolio management and the decision making process to enable students to effectively apply established theories and models in the financial world.

ISLAMIC FINANCE

This module highlights how Islamic Finance has become widely practiced in many countries in Asia, Middle East and Europe. Students entering the finance industry after graduating from the MBA programme will be expected to have practical knowledge on the principles of Islamic Finance.

ISLAMIC WEALTH PLANNING MANAGEMENT

This module provides the basic foundation in financial planning and wealth management for students from an Islamic perspective meeting the growing needs of the industry.

LEADERSHIP AND MANAGING CHANGE

This module enables students to critically examine and evaluate all aspects of leadership and change management theory and practice. They will develop keen self-awareness and a reflective learning capacity in terms of their personal attitude to leading change in organisations.

MANAGING BUSINESS IN THE GLOBAL CONTEXT

Globalization means that almost every company is affected by competition from foreign enterprises. Many firms are seeking opportunities to enter new foreign markets and expand in ones they already have penetrated. In this course, students will learn about the formation and implementation of business strategy, as well as the latest research about global business strategy, which challenges traditional ways of thinking. This module provides the opportunity for students to participate in a one week global mobility trip to one country. During the one week programme, students will be able to meet professors and managers to learn the first-hand issues affecting global business.

RISK MANAGEMENT AND STRATEGY

This module provides students with knowledge and understanding of the concept of risk in the main functional areas of a business (eg. credit risk, market risk, operational risk). This will enable the student to critically evaluate the main areas of risk in a business and deal with complex problems relating to those risks. The module aims to provide a strategic framework in which the student can employ various tools and mechanisms for managing risk.

RISK MANAGEMENT IN ISLAMIC FINANCE

This module expounds on how a bank's business, whether Islamic or conventional, is to take calculated risks. The competitive advantage of banks depends on how well they manage their risk exposures. Islamic finance is a fast growing segment in today's financial markets and it brings a unique set of opportunities and risks with its rapid product development. Furthermore, Islamic financial institutions need to adhere to the principles of Syari'ah that has a different emphasis on risk management compared to their conventional counterparts. This module may help enlighten students with various risk management instruments and risk management techniques from both the conventional and Islamic perspectives.

SERVICES MARKETING

The module aims to give students knowledge of services marketing concepts that will enable them to understand the unique challenges inherent in managing and delivering quality services, so that they can have the opportunity to apply the tools and strategies to effectively manage customer satisfaction and loyalty.

SOCIAL COMMERCE AND DIGITAL MARKETING

This module highlights how the internet and social media have dramatically changed the way people communicate with one another and market their product. The increasing number of Internet users and the proliferation of devices, platforms, and applications present the marketers new opportunities and challenges to attract new and prospective customers. This module is designed to help students understand the digital marketing environment and harness it to optimise customer experience, shape customer decision making and gain business effectiveness.

STRATEGIC CUSTOMER MANAGEMENT

This module is about managing and nurturing an organisation's interactions with customers and sales prospects. It involves using technology to organise, automate, and synchronise business processes - principally sales related activities, but also those for marketing, customer service, and technical support. The overall goals are to find, attract and win new customers, nurture and retain those the company already has, entice former customers back into the fold, while reducing the costs of marketing and customer service.

RESEARCH PROJECT

BUSINESS MANAGEMENT PROJECT

This module allows students to apply theory and practice of graduate level studies in business to resolving real-world business issues; i.e. research, analyse, evaluate and propose practical business solutions within the bounds of the Business Management project exercise.

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY FOR EXECUTIVE

This course provides students the knowledge to formulate and clarify research topics, critically review the literature and select the appropriate research approach and strategy to suit different research needs. Students will then develop a research plan that consists of research methodologies such as survey and field research, questionnaire and data analysis method. Students will be guided in constructing and executing research proposal; analysing and interpreting research data.
